

Rajinder Singh

about the artist

International multicultural artist Rajinder Singh who recently became the first Asian artist to be invited for a residency at the world-famous lithographers 'ITEMs' in Montparnasse Paris, started his art making as an illustrator and a doodler. He worked with a Singaporean aerosol artist several years back to develop a street style all of his own which he keeps separate from his main art which has been exhibited in galleries from Argentina to Australia. His interests are in mathematics, measurement and architecture and the abstracted lines and forms that connect these three areas.
